

Women on the GROW

Featuring Sandra Golden-Woods

By Communications Assistant Kellie Marks

Mrs. "Golf Diva" Sandra Golden-Woods says "My golf game may not be perfect, but I know I look good on the course!" The ultra-excited Mrs. Woods credits GROW for connecting sisters of all shapes, sizes, colors, and ages in one common place. She notes that back in the day women were not allowed on the golf course, while her husband Kerrin jokingly adds, golf once stood for Gentlemen Only Ladies Forbidden. Woods is ecstatic because that is clearly not the game of golf anymore, and the outlet that golf has become for her is relaxing and uplifting.

She is currently a broker with George Thomas Realtors. She graduated from DeKalb Technical College where she received her paralegal license. Sandra has worked in real-estate for the last 13 years and has plans to open her own business in the upcoming year. She states that she has always had an entrepreneurial spirit and starting her own brokerage firm would be a huge accomplishment!

Woods finds joy in helping families become homeowners and enlightening people on the basic necessity of homeownership. She is a member of the National Association of Realtors, and the Local Association of Realtors. In Sandra's down time, she enjoys riding motorcycles and loves to travel. "I'm a travel junkie! The best part about traveling is that I can say I've been there or I've seen that," having traveled to numerous countries around the world.

One of her mottos? "Rule your own destiny — put in the time and pay your dues and you will definitely reap the benefits of your labor."

Never Apologize
Author Unknown

Never apologize for pursuing what makes you happy. Even if you need to quit your job, transfer schools, or move across country, always do what you really want.

Never apologize for using proper English. Keeping it real doesn't mean you have to speak Ebonics.

Never apologize for giving your best in a relationship that just didn't work out.

Never apologize for crying. Wear waterproof mascara and express yourself.

Never apologize for being successful. Only haters want to keep you at their level.

Never apologize for ten pounds you need to lose. People who truly care about you will accept you as you are.

Never apologize for wearing a weave or braids. You bought it so it's yours.

Growing Golfers One Stroke at a Time!

A Message from Founding President Tracy Pointer www.letsgrowgolf.com

"Ladies Grow through Golf," is the simply put, very appropriate title of an article about GROW. As we begin the lessons for the Spring season, it is exciting to see that 33 women are taking lessons this month. Wow! You grow girls! Your level of enthusiasm has not gone unnoticed and when you get out there and as Sandra says, 'look good on the course' allow that mood to translate to feeling good and feeling confident about your game. Usually when we look good and feel good, we do good! Also, take a moment to enjoy the ambiance of a golf course and grow your game one stroke at a time!

This week, www.letsgrowgolf.com was launched. Please log into this site and join the GROW group. This will be the streamlined resource for communicating with GROW vs. email blasts through hotmail. You'll also be able to connect with other golfers, local and non-locals. And an added feature is a link on www.letsgrowgolf.com that takes you directly to the GROW webpage, where you can also find a calendar of the clinics.

Seed you soon!
